12 1 Introduction

13 It has never been easier or more acceptable to have an extramarital relationship. People believe that an 14 extramarital relationship can make life exhilarating and even make one closer to their spouse. In the survey, 15 couples in an extra marital relationship reported greater intimacy when they had sex with their spouses [1].
16 Others love the thrill that accompanies seduction and seducing outside marriage. While some people may want 17 to believe that extramarital relationships give them everything they want, others people make mistakes they 18 regret. Realistically most men, when given a chance, would enthusiastically commit infidelity. The fairer sex is 19 far choosier when it comes to selecting sexual partners. For this reason, a woman who decides to enter into an 20 extramarital relationship may search for a partner on a dating website. After choosing to have an extramarital 21 affair should she pick the wrong man, it could lead to issues and create trouble in her marriage [2]. Facebook is 22 haunted by single and married men who are looking for women. To achieve their goal, they will pretend to be 23 everything they are not. They will lie about their age, income, qualifications, achievements, background, career
24 and anything else to charm a married woman. A woman who falls for their routine may find that instead of a 25 thrilling extramarital fling, she's trapped in a tumultuous relationship. Like on Facebook, men prowl bars and 26 clubs in search of women as well. Having an extramarital relationship with a man one meets in a bar is a mistake.
27 Most eligible men are unlikely to approach women in bars and clubs. Those who patronise such places to search
28 for women may have baggage or serious emotional issues. While dancing with an unknown man in such locations 29 may still be okay, taking him home for the night ought to be avoided. For a woman, the ideal partner to have 30 an extramarital affair with is one who is married, ditto for men.

32 3 Summary

33 A married man or woman has to be just as discrete about an affair as the person they are cheating with. Both 34 know full well what they are committing to before they enter into an extramarital relationship. Both parties
35 recognise the rules before they have an affair, so there are no unexpected surprises or expectations that aren't 36 unmet. Choosing the wrong partner can lead to unexpected expectations and troubles. This is a serious no-
37 no. Even if you find someone adorable, don't fall in love immediately and complicate things. An extra-marital 38 relationship can be a fun, harmless fling; don't expect it to be anything more significant. When a woman has 39 decided she wants to commit infidelity [3], she becomes eager to take the first step. Women are choosier about 40 whom they sleep with. Still, sometimes even a prudent woman may throw caution to the wind and sleep with 41 the first seemingly eligible man she meets. This is fraught with trouble as sleeping with someone hastily is 42 a recipe for trouble. Every single woman knows that having sex on the first date automatically sends the wrong 43 signals to her sexual partner. Same goes in extramarital relationships. A woman who sleeps with a man she

5 CONCLUSION

44 just met signals that she has low self-esteem or that she is actually only using him for sex. Sleeping on the first 45 meeting isn't romantic at all. Exchanging little gifts and jewels is a significant turn on in any relationship. But 46 when a partner demands substantial sums of money, it usually leads to trouble. An extra marital relationship
47 is not a monetary investment or business transaction. Needless to say, children who I learn that their parent 48 or parents are committing infidelity usually suffer significant trauma. Even if a spouse knows their partner is 49 in an extramarital relationship, the children in the marriage should not. An extra-marital relationship is still 50 considered a taboo in Indian society. Getting caught can totally dampen the trip of an extramarital relationship.
51 It not only wrecks your marriage, but also portrays you in bad light leading to trust issues and other insecurities.
